

Call number: 00-00-100

ASUA Awards Banquet, 5/6/72

Summary created by: Summer Dougherty

Date(s) of creation of summary: 10/16/12

Notes: Originals on 7 inch reels. Master and circulation copies on CD.

The speaker (Dean Hillyard(?)) first asks the audience to all bow their heads in Grace, in each his own individual way and then announces that there will be some speeches made, that the art department is having an open house, that the band will be having a show. He welcomes everyone to the 12th annual Governor's Day. He reads off a letter from Ted Stevens to Dr. Wood expressing regret that he is unable to attend. A telegram from Mike Gravel to Dr. Wood of the same nature is read. The speaker announces that Don Scott, head of the Wood Center, is a new father as of two days ago. The speaker jokes and teases the new father. There is a new format to the awards ceremony this year, combining the Sports Award Banquet with the other university awards.

The speaker introduces the honored guests that will not be speaking Former student body president Chip Wagner(?), Anne Hillyard(?) and Dorothy J. Wood.

John C Gillmore, Head of the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, introduces the first award. The first award is for the men and womens' sweepstakes for intramurals. Accepting the award on behalf of the women's winning dormitory, Scarlett Hall, is Linda Poindexter and accepting for the men's winning dormitory, Lathrop Hall, is Bruce Wickland(?). Dr. Wood presents the trophy which, this year, is in the shape of a ptarmigan.

Rick Weber from Lathrop Hall accepts the award for the winners of the tournament that is the culmination of the basketball season.

Dr. Wendell Wolfe, dean of the College of Behavioral Sciences and Education, presents the most valuable player award to outstanding athletes: women's basketball, Linda Gustavson(?); men's basketball, Phillip Jordan(?); men's ice hockey, Alan Pollock(?); outstanding shooter for the pistol team, David Hackney(?); outstanding shooter for the varsity rifle team, Marie Stedman(?); most valuable skier, Glen Hanson(?); most valuable swimmer, Alan Cardwell(?).

Provost Beistline presents an award to the athlete that who lettered on a varsity team and had the highest academic grade point average to Robert L. Getz(?) who maintained a grade point average in 3.7 in his double major of geology and chemistry while playing ice hockey.

The next series of awards are presented by college dean.

The dean of the College of Arts and Letters, Dr. Walter J. Mueller(?), presents the award for outstanding achievement in the College of Arts and Letters . The award for the Department of Art goes to Terry McBee(?), the award for Department of Journalism to Kenneth Oberrecht(?), the award for the Department of Linguistics and Foreign Languages to Marilyn Lutchens(?), the award for the Department of Philosophy to Thomas Rimisky(?), the award for the Department of Music to Samuel Lavigne(?), and the award for the Department of Speech, Drama and Radio to Richard Userrey(?).

The dean of the College of Behavioral Sciences and Education, Dr. Wendell Wolfe, presents the award for outstanding achievement in the College of Behavioral Sciences and Education. The award for the Department of Anthropology goes to Susan Rene Fison(?), the award for the Department Education to Cynthia L. Alloya(?), the award for the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation to Patricia Schecter(?), the award for the Department of Home Economics to Bonny Dinkle(?), and the award for the Department of Psychology to James Christanson(?).

Dean Brina Kessel presents the next awards. The award for the Department of Biological Sciences goes to Merritt Gustavson(?), the award for the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries to Chip Wagner(?), the award for the Department of Land Resources and Agricultural Sciences to Kim Mackey(?).

The awards for the College of Business, Economics and Government are given out. The award for the Department of Accounting goes to Diana Conures(?), the award for the Department of Business Administration to James Lentin(?), the award for the Department of History to Steven Roth(?), the award for the Department of Office Administration to Marsha Majors(?), and the award for the Department of Political Science in the program of Police Administration to Janet Bially(?).

Here the tape cuts out.

The next awards are given to Dave who is majoring in Mineral Engineering, Carmen Jefford(?) who is majoring in Geology, and Patricia Lambrick(?) who in majoring in Geography.

The tape ends.