

Call number: 00-00-175

Dr. William. R. Wood

Campaigning Advertisements by William Wood and Fred Boyle for School Bond

Summary created by: Summer Dougherty

Date(s) of creation of summary: 4/5/2013

Notes: Originals on 7 inch reels. Master copies on CD.

William Wood and then Fred Boyle read the same scripts for campaign advertisements.

Full transcript:

This is William Wood, president of the University of Alaska. To provide a better education for the young men and young women of Alaska, vote "yes" on initiative number four. Help approve the bond issue for a new gymnasium and general utility facility for the University of Alaska. Vote "yes" on initiative number four.

This is William Wood, president of the University of Alaska, seeking your help in providing better facilities for your state university at College. Vote "yes" on initiative number four. Put you OK on the issuing on the issuing of general obligation bonds totaling 2 million dollars to build a health and physical education center on the state university campus. Vote "yes" on initiative number four.

This is President Wood from your University of Alaska, asking for your help in a big project. Vote "yes" on initiative number four to provide new and better health and physical education facilities on the University of Alaska campus. Your "yes" vote on initiative number four can help train more teachers, scientists, engineers, lawyers, doctors, home economists and other professional people to solve Alaska's problems and aid her growth. Vote "yes" on initiative number four. Put your "yes" vote on the ballot to approve a 2 million dollar bond issue to protect Alaska's future. This is President Wood from your University of Alaska, asking you to vote "yes" on initiative number four.

Vote "yes" on initiative number four. The University of Alaska, your university, needs your "yes" vote on initiative number four to provide for the issuance of a 2 million dollar bond issue by the state. Help provide funds for better health and physical education facilities on the University of Alaska's campus. Your children, your grandchildren, your friends, and all of Alaskans will benefit by better education for Alaska's youth. Vote "yes" on initiative number four. Help build a new gymnasium and general utility facility at your state university. This is William Wood, president of the University of Alaska, asking for your help, asking you to vote "yes" on initiative number four.

This is Fred Boyle, head of the physical education department at the University of Alaska. To provide a better education for the young men and young women of Alaska, vote "yes" on initiative number four. Help approve the bond issue for a new gymnasium and general utility facility for the University of Alaska. Vote "yes" on initiative number four.

This is Fred Boyle, University of Alaska professor of physical education and health, seeking your help in providing better facilities for your state university at College. Vote "yes" on initiative number four. Put you OK on the issuing on the issuing of general obligation bonds totaling 2 million dollars to build a health and physical education center on the state university campus. Vote "yes" on initiative number four.

This is Fred Boyle, physical education professor from your University of Alaska, asking for your help in a big project. Vote "yes" on initiative number four to provide new and better health and physical education facilities on the University of Alaska campus. Your "yes" vote on initiative number four can help train more teachers, scientists, engineers, lawyers, doctors, home economists and other professional people to solve Alaska's problems and aid her growth. Vote "yes" on initiative number four. Put your "yes" vote on the ballot to approve a 2 million dollar bond issue to protect Alaska's future. This is Fred Boyle, of the University of Alaska, asking you to vote "yes" on initiative number four.

Vote "yes" on initiative number four. The University of Alaska, your university of Alaska, needs your "yes" vote on initiative number four to provide for the issuance of a 2 million dollar bond issue by the state. Help provide funds for better health and physical education facilities on the University of Alaska campus. Your children, your grandchildren, your friends, and all of Alaskans will benefit by better education for Alaska's youth. Vote "yes" on initiative number four. Help build a new gymnasium and general utility facility at your state university. This is Fred Boyle, head of the University of Alaska department of physical education, asking for your help; your "yes" vote on initiative number four.