

He's asked to name major task if he were governor now. Building up the economy, Gruening says.

Nixon? He should be impeached.

Greuel comments on Gruening. Known him since 1953 and great admirer.

Gruening has parting shot: His faith in the basic ideals under which this country was formed is unshaken. Young people are being told the country is rotten which is not the case. More important and more crucial right now than it ever has been (the moral crisis facing the nation as a result of the Watergate). The performance of those last four years have been the greatest departure and the greatest betrayal of our basic ideals in our history. "I think it's the gravest crisis in our history... worse than cessation"
