Roger Nassuk was trained in sanitation engineering in 1950. He learned how to help people to be healthy and clean. They learned about the construction of outhouses and how to keep them clean. He had health safety training. He worked on hooking up sewer systems for community use. He talked about the washeterias which were put in many communities. After they were built in each community then they worked with engineers to learn about setting up sewer systems. He learned through practical work. He learned as he went along. Roger was a member of the Alaska National Guard.

Dear All:

I'm very happy to be able to provide you one of the projects that was developed during the CIOS 193 Digital Documentation of Cultural Knowledge class in Koyuk in March and April of this year.

The DVD was developed by Ruby Nassuk and has an interview of her father, Roger Nassuk, photographs, and certificates.

Both Roger and Ruby signed a Release Agreement which indicates that copies of the project will be provided to the University of Alaska Fairbanks, the Koyuk IRA Council, and the Kawerak, Inc. Eskimo Heritage Program.

The Release Agreement states that these organizations may use the interview for non-commercial, educational purposes and make it available to students and the interested public.

I will send more projects as I receive them.

Sincerely,

Barb
