Providian National Bank and the Effect on Insurance of Accounts

Providian National Bank (PNB) is scheduled to or has merged into Washington Mutual Bank on October 1, 2005. Notwithstanding that merger, any accounts opened under the name Providian National Bank will not be subject to the terms of the Washington Mutual Account Disclosures and Regulations booklet and any associated documents and any addenda to any of them unless specified otherwise. However, the merger does have an effect on FDIC insurance coverage as noted below.

Effective on the merger date, the following replaces the first paragraph of the Insurance of Accounts/Pass-Through Insurance section of the Account Disclosures and Regulations and Business Account Disclosures and Regulations:

Two different financial institutions operate under the name "Washington Mutual"; they are 1) Washington Mutual Bank (WMB), also operating under the name Washington Mutual Bank, FA (WMBFA), with financial centers in AZ, CA, CO, CT, FL, GA, ID, IL, NJ, NV, NY, OR, TX, UT and WA, and under the name Providian National Bank, with branches in NH; and 2) Washington Mutual Bank fsb (WMBfsb), which operates financial centers in ID and UT. They are related as they are direct or indirect subsidiaries of Washington Mutual, Inc., but they are not the same company. Deposits of Washington Mutual Bank, Washington Mutual Bank, FA and Providian National Bank are combined for FDIC insurance purposes as they are one and the same company.
