Dear Dave:

Here's the release. Lots of luck. I hope that you do make some money, but we both will agree that books remain as important as ever whether or not they do pay off in coin. You're in for a thrill when you hold your very own.

I leave for a couple of weeks starting June 26. I've been losing vacation time since last December. We're going to Manley and stay in a cabin of a friend. Then it's off to the East-West Center with my REPLY: family in tow. I plan to see how we can assist our beginning Northern Studies program here. As you can see from the enclosed SUMMER NEWS, we are moving ahead. One now can take a degree in Northern Studies. I'm glad we're boosting the native culture classes.

When I get back from Hawaii, after about a month's stay, I plan to fly up to my Arctic camp, perhaps put up a small structure as we have at the base camp at the lake. I will keep my eyes open for you when the land freeze lifts. Just keep me reminded, although I think that I'll remember.

Have a good summer.
