Hi Robyn, Patti Skondovitch was happy to donate the recordings of her husband done by Sharon Hollensbe to us. They are by your keyboard in a bag (12 cassettes) but there are a couple of recordings on a couple of the cassettes so I think 17 interviews in total. I've left the Gift and Release Agreement in the bag and have emailed Sharon to get her to also sign.

There are transcripts for 12 of the recordings. I opened a folder in Oral History called Alfred Skondovitch and put all the transcripts in there. Jessica is still working on the last four transcripts and will send them to us when she is done.

We ~~will digitize the recordings, catalog them and place URLs to recordings and transcripts in the library catalog.~~ BUT they cannot be available to the public until April 15, 2018. That gives Jessica two years to her book done.

3 pm

I told Patti that once everything is digitized, we would give her a call and she will bring in CDs or a thumb drive for us to give her copies of everything. She seemed very happy with that arrangement.

Any questions, please let me know,
Leslie
